SwissPedNet Session:

Research Conversations

Session Concept

"Research Conversations" adopts the format of interviews. One moderator will be on stage with you, engaging in a discussion about your project. There will be six presenters in this session. Craft a compelling storyline to illustrate your study and its findings. Notes are permitted, but no slides or visual aids will be shown to the audience.

Presenter Instructions

The moderator will interview you about your project, focusing on the following areas:

(i) Scientific Background:	What is already known about this topic? What gaps have you identified in the existing literature?
(ii) Methods:	What methodology did you employ? Which population did you include, and why did you choose these methods? How did you analyse your results (statistical analysis)?
(iii) Results:	What were your main findings? Were there any interesting side findings?
(iv) Discussion:	Do your results align with existing literature? Is there additional evidence to support your findings? What questions remain unanswered? Have new questions emerged from your research?

You are encouraged to connect with your moderator at least once before the session!

Timing

Each interview will last 10 minutes, followed by a 5-minute Q&A from both the chairs and the audience.
